Reformulated PlastiKote Hi-Temp Paint Provides Hard and Lasting Finish

Chicago, Ill. – December 5, 2011 – Formulated to resist intermittent temperatures up to 1,300 degrees Fahrenheit, PlastiKote's Hi-Temp Paint is the perfect coating protection for any surface on a vehicle that is exposed to very high heat.

"PlastiKote's Hi-Temp Paint is the perfect paint solution for those areas on the car or truck that are subject to extreme heat conditions," said Katie Whiting, product manager, aerosols for Valspar. "It works perfectly on engines, exhaust manifolds and headers. PlastiKote Hi-Temp Paint has been reformulated to provide a hard and lasting finish for strong protection for many years to come."

The features and benefits of PlastiKote's Hi-Temp Paint include:

- Once properly cured, it forms a hard, lasting finish
- Reformulated highly durable silicone resin
- Resists salt spray and will not chip or peel
- Dries to the touch in 60 minutes
- Available in red, aluminum, orange, blue and cast grey
- Withstands intermittent heat up to 1,300 degrees Fahrenheit
